

Opportunities with Museum of Liverpool – coming soon!

We're working with the Archaeology team at the Museum of Liverpool to carry out important research into The Old Library building.

Over the next 12 months, we'll need volunteers to help with:

- Historic building recording
- Social history research
- An archaeological dig in the grounds of The Old Library

The Museum of Liverpool will be providing on-site training for volunteers who want to get involved so these are fantastic opportunities to learn new skills and meet like-minded people.

If you're interested in helping us learn more about The Old Library and recording its heritage for future generations then email olivia.johnson@listersteps.co.uk and we'll let you know when volunteer roles are available.

Thank you for your support.
